

FGM, Inc. Wins as Top Tech Place to Work 2001

Press Release

ITRecruitermag.com Lists FGM, Inc. on its Top 50 Tech Places to Work

About FGM

DULLES, VA - January 4, 2001 - FGM, Inc. announced today that the software engineering company earned a spot on ITrecruitermag.com's 2001 list of the Top 50 Tech Places To Work. This award is given annually to recognize companies in the Washington, D.C. - Baltimore area that provide work environments that continue to benefit those with careers in the information technology industry. The Top 50 award follows FGM's win of other awards for revenue growth and for commitment to its employees, including the Companies As Responsive Employers (CARE) Award from Northern Virginia Family Service.

ITrecruitermag.com President Rocky Ferrari wrote in his Top Tech 50 award letter to FGM that "After all, it's you and your colleagues who provide the lifeline to this exciting, impressive and unsurpassed industry." FGM will be highlighted in a feature on the award in the January/February 2001 issue of ITrecruitermag.com.

FGM's CEO and President, Scott Gessay said of the award, "We are honored to win this award, but especially to have been nominated by our employees. This tells us that we're doing some things right, but also reminds us to continue to find new ways to ensure a superior working environment for everyone here at FGM."

Mr. Gessay is a founder of FGM Inc. and serves on the Board of Directors of the Herndon Dulles Chamber of Commerce.

FGM, Inc. Promotes Defense Engineering Services Director to Vice President Dulles, VA Operations

Press Release

Ellen Minderman Brings Key Business Leadership to FGM's Executive Management Team

DULLES, VA - June 12, 2001 - FGM, Inc. announced today that the software engineering company promoted its Defense Engineering Services Director, Ellen Minderman, to Vice President of Dulles, Virginia Operations. Ms. Minderman brings more than 20 years of technical and business leadership experience to FGM's executive management team. Ms. Minderman's expertise as a key technical and business leader in FGM's primary business area, federal engineering services, qualifies her to facilitate the growth and success of FGM's Dulles-based business units, and serve as a liaison to the company's corporate resources and other senior leadership.

Ms. Minderman has managed FGM's key software engineering programs for clients including the Defense Information Systems Agency (DISA), the Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency (DARPA), and the Space and Naval Warfare Systems Command (SPAWAR). Prior to joining FGM Inc., Ms. Minderman served Grumman Data Systems as both Deputy Software Manager and Engineering Manager.

FGM's CEO and President, Scott Gessay said, "Since joining FGM in 1993, Ellen's technical expertise and leadership have contributed greatly to our success and growth. As a past Robert F. Feeley Leadership Award winner, Ellen exemplifies the qualities and values FGM respects in its leaders."

Mr. Gessay is a founder of FGM Inc. and serves on the Board of Directors of both the Northern Virginia Regional Partnership and the Herndon Dulles Chamber of Commerce.

FGM, Inc. Awarded International Demining Contract

Press Release

FGM to Develop Interchange Format for Seamlessly Sharing Information

DULLES, VA - September 18, 2001 - FGM, Inc. rannounced today that the company was awarded a contract with the Geneva International Centre for Humanitarian Demining that will give humanitarian demining experts a more accurate picture of the world's landmine problem. FGM will develop an interchange format that will allow the various international mine action information systems to seamlessly share information. FGM's creation of this eXtensible Markup Language (XML) specification will also facilitate information sharing between other relevant disciplines like mapping, international development, logistics, and medicine by creating a common language for those systems to communicate. The first phase of this effort is fully funded at $690K with two additional phases planned. International donors including the United States will fund the project.

FGM's CEO and President, Scott Gessay said, "This is an exciting award for FGM that allows us to leverage our proven data access expertise and technologies to help the demining community communicate more effectively and efficiently. This is very important international work and we are pleased to be part of it."

Mr. Gessay is a founder of FGM Inc. and serves on the Board of Directors of both the Northern Virginia Regional Partnership and the Herndon Dulles Chamber of Commerce.

FGM, Inc. Recognized as “Great Place to Work”

Press Release

The Washingtonian Magazine Selects FGM as One of the “Very Best”

DULLES, VA - September 25, 2011 - FGM, Inc. ranks among the fastest growing companies in the Washington, DC metropolitan area announced today that the company was selected as one of Washington’s “Great Places to Work” by The Washingtonian Magazine. FGM is highlighted as one of 50 companies headquartered in the Washington, DC metropolitan area that offer excellent benefits, challenging work, and growth opportunities for employees. The cover story appears in The Washingtonian Magazine’s October issue.

FGM was “chosen because of its satisfied staff, interesting work, good benefits, employee development, and community involvement,” wrote Sherri Dalphonse, Washingtonian Senior Editor, in her congratulatory letter to FGM. The cover story highlights FGM’s flexible leave pool where “first-year employees start with 25 days of leave and can honor their own religious and cultural holidays.” It also lists FGM as the “Best if you’re really competitive: FGM where staffers challenge one another in soccer, basketball, chess, and more.” Washingtonian also highlights FGM’s creative approach to work with mention of its recruiting challenges and opportunities to compete for research and development funding.

Scott Gessay, FGM’s President and CEO said of the award, “Without question, our people are our most important asset. We know they appreciate challenging work, need opportunities to grow in their careers, and want to balance their work with other activities. That’s why we focus on training and technological innovation as well as the integration of community involvement and non-work activities. Being a great place to work is a key business strategy for FGM, and we are pleased to be recognized among the best.”

Mr. Gessay is a founder of FGM Inc. and serves on the Board of Directors of both the Northern Virginia Regional Partnership and the Herndon Dulles Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Gessay is also a member of the Chamber’s Technology Committee and was recently elected to the Chamber’s Board of Directors.
